The Ultimate Pederson and Thuesen Dragon Olympic Boat 1972

Royalist was built in 1970 for Simon Tait who won the Edinburgh Cup in 1972 and was then selected to sail in the 1972 Olympic Games after which she was purchased by the current owner.

She has been professionally maintained and modernized, with a major refit in 2007 when the following was carried out.

- New Teak decking on new marine ply.
- New coach roof comprising Brazilian Mahogany structure with Teak roof
- New Bronze bolts throughout and epoxy resin sheath to keel
- New raised Teak floor
- New up to date running rigging and Harken blocks throughout
- Stainless Steel shroud stiffening rods
- New Mahogany rudder with Stainless Steel shaft and rudder tube with Oilite Bronze bearings.
- New laminated Mahogany and Ash tiller, varnished.
- Re-varnished inside last winter

Annual maintenance carried out by Katie Cole Dragon Specialist
